MCC evicts florists on Valmiki Road

Identifies new spot near Cheluvamba Park to set shop

The Valmiki Road, which used to be busy with florists doing business, looks deserted this morning. Picture right shows the new location near Cheluvamba Park.

Mysuru, July 31 (RK&NNN)- The old makes way for the new and this is exactly the experience of the nine florists who had set up shop on Valmiki Road nearly 15 years ago.

The opening of Maharani's Commerce and Management College for Women on the same road has spelt a doom on their daily lives as the management of the college wanted them evicted, raising serious concerns for the safety of the girl students.

The Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) swung into action and evicted all of them yesterday leaving the florists stranded with no place to go. However, there is a solution in sight with a place being found near Cheluvamba Park at Vontikoppal and florists are likely to set up their shops at the new location tomorrow.

Health Officer Dr. D.G. Nagaraj, speaking to Star of Mysore this morning, said that the florists had set up their shops on Valmiki Road nearly 15 years ago. The same people were operating earlier near the Metropole Circle on Vinoba Road footpath.

As the traffic increased and the traffic signal came up, the road became congested. The Traffic Police wrote to the MCC to clear the florists who were asked to move to the more spacious Valmiki Road where there was hardly any traffic.

Now with the opening of the Maharani's College, other petty shops also started springing up on the road.

The college management felt that this could lead to problems for the girl students as all kinds of anti-social elements gather near the college in front of the florists and other petty shops and harass the girl students, said Dr. Nagaraj.

Hence, a decision was taken to nip the problems in the bud and the florists were asked to move out. "It is only on humanitarian grounds that we are finding an alternative place for the florists as otherwise they do not have any licence to operate the shops. We found the road connecting Rangayana and Hunsur Road next to the Railway track an ideal place for them to operate. However, the property belongs to Railways and they are not prepared to part with it," he said.

Night traffic ban

at MM Hills in two months

Vehicles will be banned from 9 pm to 6 am

Mysuru, July 31 (MTY&BCT)- Buoyed by the success of night traffic ban at Bandipur Tiger Reserve and Nagarahole National Park where roadkills have been significantly reduced over the years, the Forest Department is all set to ban vehicular traffic from 9 pm to 6 am on Male Madeshwara Hills (MM Hills) Wildlife Sanctuary road and roads that cut through Cauvery Wildlife Sanctuary. The rule will be implemented in two months.

At present, the night traffic ban has been enforced at Bandipur and Nagarahole since many years and this decision has brought down roadkills. Even the wild animals are accustomed to this ban and are found roaming freely on the roads during nights. The decision, however, has been opposed by Kerala Government that has gone to Supreme Court that has upheld the Forest Department rules.

The communication on implementing the night traffic ban was sent from the office of Principal Chief Conservator of Forests (PCCF), Bengaluru to the office of Deputy Conservator of Forests (DCF) Kollegal three months back. Kollegal DCF V. Yedukondalu told Star of Mysore this morning that a meeting will soon be held with officials from Forest Department, Chamarajanagar DC Office, MM Hills Development Authority and Male Madeshwara Temple Management Committee to enforce the ban.

Performance pay parity

The term pay, figuring in the caption to this column, refers to the pay packet and is used in its noun form. The term performance connotes work done by the fraternity in workforce earning wages in the process, usually stated clearly in advance. While the work done or performance in doing the assigned or agreed upon work can be quantitatively measured and assessed for quality in a multitude of pursuits, one has to resort to the practice of determining work done both in terms of quality and extent of task completed upto a point of time by resorting to the system of hedonic scale, to convert subjectivity to objectivity of judging work done to some extent. The analogy to the issue of quality of work, let alone its quantity, can be drawn from the all-too-familiar substandard nature of roads laid all over the country, Mysuru being in the august company of roads developing potholes, if not craters. Incidents of buildings under construction coming down crashing with fatalities cannot also be missed nowadays. Karnataka abounds in structures getting dilapidated within months after their construction, as reported in dailies.

A revered faculty of a Mysuru-based reputed college, now not alive, lives in the memory of his students for his revealing idiomatic statements. Once such expression namely, "mistakes of the teacher lies buried in notebooks of his students; mistakes of the doctor lies buried a few feet under ground" tells all about parity between performance and pay succinctly.

The subject of judging performance of individuals in doing work is far wider in its implications than is possible to be covered adequately in this short column. One wishes the exercise of assessing work in all situations boils down to the case of students scoring marks in tests and examinations. The world of manufacturing various consumer products and other materials provides easy-to-comprehend examples of assessing work done both in quantitative terms and qualitative. On the other hand, the world of administration, such as in government offices, the exercise of judging one's work shall be invariably subjective. Pleasant relationships across hierarchy and sour relationships make all the difference.

In the backdrop of the foregoing longish preamble, the news in a business-oriented daily published last week under a four-column heading on front page namely, "Public sector Bank biggies may go for performance linked pay" may disturb the hornet's nest as it were. The mass of more than 10 lakh bank employees are sure to rake up a debate citing the decennial pay hike for the 50 lakh babus of the Union Government on the suggestion of the Central Pay Commission. One is obliged to keep one's fingers crossed to the day of reckoning.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

Several years ago, driving on the then wide and spacious Ring Road of Delhi, I was nearly hit by a car that dashed out from a side lane. I brought my own car to a screaming halt, sprang agitatedly towards the offender and asked him if he knew that the driver on the main road has the right of way. Completely unruffled, he replied: 'Jo jis road par chalta hai, wahi road uske liye main road hoti hai (Whichever road one is on becomes their main road)'. At that time I used it as an example to teach my students the meaning of relativism. But it can as easily be used as an example of how people brazenly put their own self-interest before the interest of others. Already a symptom of a developing social disease then, today the malaise has deepened: there is a free reign in our society of unspeakable moral insensitivity. — Rajeev Bhargava in The Hindu.

Crocs & humans live together in peace

Bazoule: In African small village of Bazoule, where its people — descendents of Mossis warriors — have chosen the Crocodylus suchus as its totem. Despite the fearsome reputation of crocodiles, the villagers have no problem living alongside them. In fact, the Mossi boldly approach the crocodiles to play; they even sit on and lie next to them.

Local legends from the 15th century credit these reptiles with the village's salvation. While in the throes of a serious drought, the Mossi were led to an undiscovered pond by the crocodiles. This not only allowed the Mossi to survive, but also led to the founding of Bazoule. The villagers were so grateful towards the crocodiles, they now care for and live side by side with them, having funerals and burying them after death, as they do for their human companions.

Zoo paints donkey to resemble Zebra

Cairo: A new zoo in Cairo's International Garden municipal park has come under fire for trying to deceive visitors by painting a donkey black and white to make it look like a zebra.

Mahmoud A. Sarhani, a Cairo student who had recently visited the recently opened zoo posted a photo of a strange-looking zebra on his Facebook page.

A closer inspection revealed that this zebra also lacks the characteristic mane of its species, which extends forward past the ears.

Apparently, zoo staff had painted a common donkey with black and white stripes, trimmed its mane to make it look pointy and tried to pass it off as a zebra. But, the hot weather caused the paint to smudge which attracted unwanted attention.

Mohamed Sultan, director of International Gardens park denied rumors despite multiple veterinarians confirming that the animal in the photos was actually a donkey.

Plea to safeguard reputation of Beauty Parlours

Sir,

This refers to the news item in SOM yesterday regarding raids on beauty parlours.

The Beauty Parlour Association of Mysore, Mandya, Kollegal, Coorg and Chamarajanagar is now 20-years-old.

Over the years we have personally visited all parlours and catalogued each and every one. We have submitted this list to the City Corporation a number of times requesting them to take heed of such parlours that are run without license and by unqualified persons. We did get a response last year from the Police after we had gone and complained about such activities. We have personally closed parlours of ill repute by staging dharna in front of them. Sadly a lot more need to be done.

License to open parlours and spas should not be issued to all and sundry. We are now in the process of registering all beauticians and helping them procure work in their localities. This will not only help them but also allow beauty parlours to hire professional people.

Certificates are issued by some recognised bodies after only a few weeks of "training". They are issued licences with this certificate. This profession needs a minimum of 3 months of study and 1 month of training. There is a need to not only register all beauty parlours but also all beauticians. Although our Association has around 250 members there are 5 times this number who are not registered with us.

Our Association, over the years has gained a good reputation not only nationally but also internationally. We are supported by other networks like our distributors, product companies, professional trainers, etc.

All concerned bodies need to work hand in hand to safeguard the reputation of beauty parlours, spas and other such ventures. Such incidents bring ill repute to this profession, run by hard-working and sincere individuals, mostly women, who are trying to earn an honest income.

H.D. Kote woman, working as maid at late actor Amrish Puri's nephew's house in Mumbai, loots owner's jewellery worth about Rs.30 lakh

- Mumbai Police arrest maid with help from local Police
- Rs.29.75 lakh jewellery pledged with pawn broker recovered

Mysuru, July 31 (MTY&KS)- A 30-year-old woman of H.D. Kote, who was working as a maid at Col. (Retd.) K.K. Puri, nephew of late bollywood actor Amrish Puri in Mumbai, has been arrested by the Mumbai Police with the help of local Police on charges of allegedly looting gold and diamond ornaments worth about Rs.30 lakh from the house, where she was working as a maid.

The arrested has been identified as Tulasi, a native of H.D. Kote. The Mumbai Police, who interrogated her, have recovered some of the stolen jewellery worth about Rs.29.75 lakh, which was pledged at Mahaveer Pawn Broker shop at Hand Post in H.D. Kote taluk in different names and have made the pawn broker as a witness.

The Mumbai Police, after obtaining permission from the Magistrate, have taken Tulasi to Mumbai for further investigation.

Tulasi, who was married to a person from H.D. Kote, was living separately since a few years and had approached an agent from Mangaluru to get her a job. The agent about two months ago took Tulasi to Mumbai and got her a job as a maid at the house of Col. K.K. Puri.

But Tulasi quit the job about 12 days ago telling the house owner that one of her relatives was serious and left the house all of a sudden, which gave rise to suspicion. The house owner, who returned home and examined the jewellery kept in the almirah, found gold and diamond jewellery worth about Rs.30.75 lakh missing and immediately lodged a complaint at Mahim Police Station in Mumbai besides expressing doubts on Tulasi.

Mahim Police, who searched the house of the Col. K.K. Puri, found a bag containing clothes of Tulasi, which she had left behind but there was no clue about her address. The Police then collected Tulasi's mobile phone number and began to investigate. But Tulasi's phone was switched off.

Accused Tulasi

When Tulasi's phone was switched on after three days, the Mahim Police traced her mobile phone location at some part in H.D. Kote and a Police team consisting of Inspector Praveen, Sub-Inspector Sawath and a lady staff, came to H.D. Kote Police Station on July 27, apprised the H.D. Kote Police about the case and sought their help in nabbing Tulasi.

Following instructions from senior officials, H.D. Kote Police Head Constable Narayana and Constable N. Srinivasa, along with Mumbai Police, launched a hunt for Tulasi. On learning that Tulasi was in Hadanur village in H.D. Kote taluk, reached the village and enquired with the villagers about Tulasi but got negative replies. They then got information about a house, which would be bolted from inside during daytime following which the Police team kept a watch on the house.

It is learnt that Tulasi, who would remain inside the house during daytime, used to go to Mysuru after dark and return before sunrise. The Police team, who watched the movements of Tulasi for two days, finally took custody of her on Sunday from the house.

Recovered jewellery.

H.D. Kote Police Head Constable Narayana and Constable N. Srinivas

During preliminary enquiry, Tulasi, who confessed to the crime, told them that the jewellery was pledged at Mahaveer Pawn Broker shop at Hand Post. The Police team, based on the information provided by Tulasi, went to the pawn broker shop and recovered five pairs of diamond earrings (each pair cost about Rs.1.30 lakh), one gold bracelet worth about Rs. 5 lakh, 12 pairs of gold bangles (each pair cost about Rs.50,000), five gold finger rings (each ring cost about Rs.25,000) and two gold chains worth about Rs. 3 lakh.

The Mumbai Police, who produced Tulasi before a Magistrate, sought permission to take the accused to Mumbai and have taken Tulasi to Mumbai for further investigation.

MCC officials raid beauty parlours, spa; verify documents

Mysuru, July 31 (YDS&KS)- Following the Police busting flesh trade racket being run in the name of beauty parlours and spa in city, the officials of the Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) yesterday conducted surprise raids on some beauty parlours and spas in city and verfied the documents.

The raids were led by MCC Health Officer Dr. Nagaraju and the team of officers inspected various documents such as license, beautician course certificate, No Objection Certificate (NOC) issued by the Police and other such documents.

The MCC team instructed the owners of these beauty parlours and spas to document all necessary information of the customers and to install a board containing the names of the staff and the price list of the services available at the parlours and spas.

Dr. Nagaraju said that it has come to light that illegal activities were taking place in the name of beauty parlours and spas and added that such surprise raids will continue in the coming days. He further said that legal action would be initiated against the offenders.

Close to each other while alive, mother-son unites in death too

Mysuru, July 31 (SBD&BCT)- Death has united a mother and son who were closely attached to each other during their life-time. Both died within hours and as fate willed, it was the son who died of heart attack first early in the morning, closely followed by his mother at around 12.10 pm.

The incident occurred in city yesterday. Late Paramesh's wife Shanthammanni alias Shantha (70), who was suffering from a kidney disease, and her son Dileep (47) were living on Thyagaraja Road in KR Mohalla near Akkana Balaga School.

While Shantha could not be cured from the kidney disease and was bedridden since the last four years, Dileep was having troubles with his heart and two years back, he had suffered a heart attack and a stent was implanted in a by-pass surgery. Dileep had devoted himself to take care of his mother and occasionally he used to drive an autorickshaw to earn a living.

Shantha was admitted to Radiant Hospital in Vijayanagar sometime back and was brought home last Saturday as she was not responding to the treatment. Shantha was not even responding to others. As her condition was critical, Shantha's daughter Rekha had come from T. Narasipur to her mother's house to take care of her.

Dileep lived on the upstairs of the house and as usual, he had dinner on the night of July 29 (Sunday) and went to sleep in his room. Every morning, he had a habit of walking around the garden around his house and used to water the plants. Yesterday, however he did not come down even after 9 am. His sister Rekha called him on his mobile but there was no response.

Shantha Dileep

Rekha immediately rushed to his room only to find it locked. As there was no response, she called the neighbours and the door was broke open. Dileep was found in a sleeping position and he did not wake up despite the family members trying hard. A doctor was summoned who told the family members that Dileep had died of a massive heart attack a few hours ago.

The family members did not inform Shantha about her son's death as she was in a semi-conscious state. But after Dileep's body was being lowered from his upstairs room, the family members discovered that Shantha too had breathed her last.

Paramesh and Shantha had three children. While the first son Deepak was living separately at Kuvempunagar along with his family, Rekha lived at T. Narasipur along with her family. Dileep was the youngest son and was attached to his mother.

A goods autorickshaw driver by profession, Dileep's wife had separated from him and has been staying with their teen son. Dileep, who rarely went out for work, devoted all his time to his mother. Troubles began with the family as Shantha was diagnosed with kidney disease four years back and she was undergoing regular dialysis.

Dileep, who was taking care of his mother, suffered a heart attack two years back and with the help of his brother and sister, he had undergone a by-pass surgery.

Hearing the news of the death of mother and son, a large crowd had assembled at their house. The death of Dileep also brought together some of his childhood friends who had their initial education at Akkana Balaga School in the same locality.

Dileep's teen son, who came along with his mother to see the mortal remains, also performed the last rites. The bodies were buried alongside in two separate graves at a burial ground in Vidyaranyapuram.

Woman robbed of Rs. 1.80 lakh cash in KSRTC bus

She had handed over her bag containing cash to two other women seated in a crowded bus

Mysuru, July 31 (YDS&BCT)- Beware if you are travelling in a crowded bus and if you are carrying a bag don't ever hand it over to the people who are sitting. You might lose cash and valuables kept inside the bag as criminals will be watching your every move.

A woman learnt her lesson in a hard way as she fell prey to this attention diversion crime that occurred inside a bus. She lost a whopping Rs. 1.80 lakh cash that was kept inside her bag. The incident that occurred a few days back has come to light now.

In her complaint to Devaraja Police Station, 57-year-old Divya, a resident of T. Narasipur, has stated that on July 27, she was travelling in a crowded KSRTC city bus in the afternoon from Mahadeshwara Layout. As the bus was crowded and there was very little space for her to stand, she had handed over her vanity bag to two women who were seated next to her. The bag contained Rs. 1.80 lakh cash.

Divya told the Police that the women managed to take away the cash by diverting her attention or while she was looking away. The two women handed over the bag back to Divya at a bus stop near Sayyaji Rao Road and told her that they were alighting from the bus.

After taking back the bag, Divya opened it only to find that the cash was missing. By the time the theft came to light, the women had got down from the bus and had left the place. Divya immediately alerted the fellow passengers and on searching, a small purse was found below the seat on which the women were sitting.

A few documents that belonged to one K. Nagamani and Bhagya were found in the purse. The documents included Voter ID, PAN Card, pass book of The Mysore Cooperative Society and the loan repayment certificate of the same Society.

Divya has said that the two women had stolen cash from her bag and were behaving in a suspicious manner. She told the Police that both the women were in a tearing hurry to get down near Sayyaji Rao Road.

The Devaraja Police are now tracing for Nagamani and Bhagya based on the documents that have been recovered from the bus.

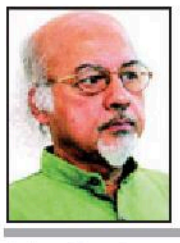
The bugles are calling for war



Point of VIEW

T.J.S. George

Men of calibre are hard to come by these days and regional leaders are finding it difficult to achieve national stature. One thing is sure. It is not going to be a general election next year. It is going to be war.

The big question is finally being addressed: Who will be the Opposition's Prime Minister candidate? It will be unrealistic, of course, to expect an answer at this stage. But the unexpected flexibility in the Congress' position tells its own tale. Two days after taking a stand firmly in favour of Rahul Gandhi, it said the party would be accommodative, that it saw itself as a facilitator of alliances, that it was ready to accept "any non-RSS candidate" as Prime Minister.

In a more sensational policy shift, Mamata Banerjee said that she would organise an opposition rally in Kolkata in January to which she would invite the CPM, a sworn enemy against which she had a fought a bitter war and won. She called for an "inclusive opposition." At the other end of the country, Mehbooba Mufti's People's Democratic Party (PDP) rushed to compliment its long-time adversary, the National Conference (NC), when NC leader Farooq Abdullah called for talks with Pakistan over Kashmir. Chandrababu Naidu emphasised a critical factor when he said: "Strengthen the regional parties, whether it is the party of Mamata, Mayawati, Akhilesh or Kumaraswamy, then India will have a better future." This is common sense endorsed by history. The Congress was strongest when it functioned more or less as a syndicate of regional leaders such as Kamaraj, S.K.Patil, Atulya Ghosh, S.Nijalingappa and C.B.Gupta.

Men of that calibre are hard to come by these days and regional leaders are finding it difficult to achieve national stature. Mayawati has spent massively to field candidates in many States many a time, scoring zero most of the time. Akhilesh Yadav similarly is unable to make any impact outside his home turf. Kumaraswamy has a party with an all-India sound, but is crippled by a father who is over-ambitious for an 85-year-old and a brother in the Cabinet whose authoritarianism is aggravated by his eccentricity; it was unbearable family politics that reduced the Karnataka Chief Minister to a pitiable weeping angel.

Mamata Banerjee is the only person in Naidu's list whose mass popularity at home has some echoes elsewhere as well. She certainly had a larger audience in mind than the one she faced in Kolkata last week when she said that "there is a crisis in India" because the ruling group had unleashed "Taliban Hindutva." She referred to hundreds of people being killed in UP in fake encounters, and 13,000 farmers committing suicide. She asked people to unite under the slogan BJP hatao, desh bachao.

Chandrababu Naidu said, intriguingly, that his TDP would play a national role. Does it mean oneupmanship with other regional leaders or helping a chosen one? Earlier, Telangana's Chandrasekhar Rao had said, a bit too blatantly, "I am ready to enter national politics...I will take the leadership at the national level, why not?" To mention just one reason: What credibility can he have when he is unable to work collaboratively even with the other Telugu State next door? The TDP member, who introduced the No Confidence Motion in Parliament, faced the loudest interruptions from the Telangana members.

Actually that debate unveiled talent that could be of use to both Telugu States and beyond. Jayadeva Gulla, eloquent in polished English, was a forceful speaker, deserving the one hour he managed against the allotted 13 minutes. Eloquent in his own native style was Kesineni Srinivas, who regaled the House with quotable quotes. Referring to the Prime Minister's speech, he said: "Wandraful oratory speech, madam. Wandraful. I felt I was watching blockbuster Bollywood movie. The best actor in the world, madam. No doubt, madam." Madam Speaker didn't want such things said and cut him short. Telangana MPs were happy.

Telugu is the only language, other than Hindi, that has more than one State in its name. That does not seem to be helping either the language or the States. Such inherent contradictions can stand in the way of opposition unity. How many leaders will have the maturity and the good sense to set aside personal ambitions for the common good? The shift to pragmatism announced by Trinamool and the Congress must set an example to others.

A warning implied in Rahul Gandhi's speech in Parliament suggests that unity may be a matter of life-and-death for opposition parties. He said: "The Prime Minister and the BJP President cannot afford to lose power. Because the moment they lose power, the other processes will start against them." Think that over. One thing is sure. It is not going to be a general election next year. It is going to be war.

'India needs three lakh people for cyber security'

Mysuru, July 31- India needs three lakh people for cyber security but we are producing just 20,000 people every year to safeguard our data, said A.M. Sudhakara, System Manager and Head, Computer Centre, University of Mysore.

He was delivering the keynote address on the topic 'e-Security' during the one-day workshop on 'Safe and Effective Utilisation of Information and Communication Technology' organised by the Department of Electronics, All India Institute of Speech and Hearing (AIISH) at its seminar hall here on Saturday.

He said, "According to Information Technology Act, if we send a mail without the permission of other person it is punishable. Without knowing the cyber law and IT Act, people are using information technology."

"Who are the contributors of cyber crime; it is we who are contributors. People share photos in Facebook, it's fine; but they should share with their respective groups only and not in general. Apart from this, they are also found sharing their contact number in Facebook which is very harmful," he said adding that these are small things which lead to cyber crime.

He called upon the people not to give any bank details including account number to those who ask them over phone; instead he advised them to have their respective bank and bank managers' numbers.

During his more than an hour address, Sudhakara briefed about how we need to take care in protecting our private data.

He also mentioned that 50 percent of material on net is fake and hence called upon the people to be very careful while getting information from net, citing the recent example where the Vice-Chancellor of Gadag University was duped to the tune of Rs.69,000.

"Due to lack of implementation of Information Technology Act, there is rise in the number of cyber crimes not only across India but also in the world. Just less than one percent have been punished. There should be some fear among them, only then people will think twice before committing such crime."

"Cyber crimes are also rampant in many Multinational Companies (MNCs) but most of them are not reported. Hence to be on the safer side, a good anti-virus is very important" added Sudhakara. He observed that the State needs more stations and staff to deal cyber crime-related issues.

The day-long workshop enabled UG students to become competent in innovatively employing the tools of technology and to enhance ICT literacy and confidence among them.

Dr. S.R. Savithri, AIISH Director and Manohar, Head, Department of Electronics, were present.

HC confirms life sentence on bakery owner who had killed his wife

- Killer had buried body next to an oven
- Son found a foot popping out of burial spot

Mysuru/H.D. Kote, July 31 (BCT)- The Karnataka High Court has upheld the life sentence imposed on a man who had murdered his wife and buried her body next to a bakery oven at his home in H.D. Kote.

One of the killer's children had found his mother's body after a part of the foot jutted out of the burial spot near the oven.

The murder had taken place exactly eight years ago on July 31, 2010 and a Mysuru Court had sentenced the killer to life imprisonment. Questioning this, the killer had approached the High Court that has now upheld the Mysuru Court's judgement.

On July 31, 2010, 50-year-old Dasappa, alias Dasan, a resident of H.D. Kote, had murdered his 40-year-old wife Vasanthamma alias Vasantha. Vasanthamma had gone missing on the same day. The couple was running a tea shop and a bakery near Annaiyappa's shed at H.D. Kote. For this, they had set up an oven to bake breads and biscuits inside their house.

Two of their four children lived with them while the other two lived in Mysuru. After Vasanthamma went missing, her children tried to locate her but she was not found. A few days later, on persistent enquiry, Dasappa told Aneesh, one of his sons who was living in Mysuru, that Vasanthamma had gone to her parents' home in Kodagu.

BODY DISCOVERED

Aneesh trusted his father's words and returned to Mysuru. On Aug.4, however, when he came back to his house in H.D. Kote, Aneesh found the house stinking. On searching, he found a portion of a woman's feet protruding from a heap of mud by the side of oven that was meant for baking bread. He immediately called his neighbours and lodged a Police complaint accusing his father Dasappa of murdering his mother.

When the Police interrogated Dasappa, he told them that Vasanthamma had affairs with many men in the village. He told the Police that as he questioned Vasanthamma of her affairs, she committed suicide fearing consequences.

ARREST AND TRIAL

Dasappa told the Police that when he woke up on the night of July 31, he found Vasanthamma hanging even as his daughter Anu was fast asleep. He told the Police that he had buried Vasanthamma by digging a pit near the oven and had covered the body with mud and clay hoping that the body will be burnt due to the heat generated by the oven.

Dasappa was later arrested and was produced before a Trial Court in Mysuru. A charge-sheet was filed and the prosecution had proved the case by establishing that Dasappa suspected the fidelity of his wife and had on earlier occasions threatened to kill her.

It was proved with circumstantial and other evidence that Dasappa had lied to his son Aneesh that Vasanthamma had gone to her native place. On the night of July 31, 2010, Dasappa had first strangulated her and then buried her inside the house to conceal evidence.

HIGH COURT JUDGEMENT

The Trial Court found him guilty of murder, concealing evidence and harassment. Dasappa was sentenced to life imprisonment in 2011. Questioning the Trial Court judgement, Dasappa had approached the High Court where a Division Bench upheld the judgement of the Trial Court last week. The court said Dasappa had failed to offer a different scenario from that of the prosecution to prove his innocence.

Upholding the judgement, the High Court Bench said, "We have carefully gone through the impugned judgement and order. The Trial Court on an overall appreciation of the oral and documentary evidence has rightly convicted and sentenced the accused for the offences charged against him. We find no illegality in the impugned judgement passed by the learned Sessions Judge."

Imran Khan to take oath as Pakistan PM on Aug. 11

Islamabad, July 31 (UNI)- Pakistan Tehreek-e-Insaf (PTI) Chairman Imran Khan has said that he will take oath as Prime Minister on Aug. 11.

Talking to the newly-elected members from Khyber Pakhtunkhwa province in Islamabad, he said a decision regarding nomination of the Chief Minister will be taken soon and in the best interest of the people, according to Radio Pakistan.

Although PTI has emerged as the single largest party in the National Assembly in the July 25 polls, it is short of numbers to form its government independently.

To meet the required number of votes, the PTI leadership has reportedly approached the Muttahida Qaumi Movement-Pakistan (MQM-P), the Grand Democratic Alliance (GDA), PML-Quaid (PML-Q) and the Balochistan Awami Party (BAP), as well as Independents.

Imran Khan

Meanwhile, former Prime Minister Nawaz Sharif's Pakistan Muslim League - Nawaz and Bilawal Bhutto-led Pakistan People's Party agreed on formulation of a "coordinated joint strategy" in an attempt to give a tough time to PTI in Parliament.

MCC evicts florists

The other option which even the florists have agreed to is the one near the Cheluvamba Park at the junction of KRS Road and the road leading to Vontikoppal where the footpath is really wide.

"This property belongs to the MCC and hence it is easy for us to ask the florists to shift," said Dr. Nagaraj.

Two of the florists, Rangaswamy and Nagendra, whom Star of Mysore spoke to this morning, said that they had no other option but to agree to the diktats of the MCC.

"We have been doing business on Valmiki Road since the last 15 years and it was a very good location. There are a total of nine shops and in each shop, there are three people working. It is a question of the livelihood of 27 people. We approached MLA L. Nagendra who assured support to us. But we were evicted yesterday and awaiting for a place today. We do not mind moving near Cheluvamba Park as it is very close to where we were operating earlier," they said.

The two other places where florist shops are located are near Chandrakala Hospital in Jayalakshmipuram and another one near Ballal Circle.

Night traffic ban at MM Hills

The ban will be implemented on the road from Taalu Betta to MM Hills (30 kms), Taalu Betta to Pollachi (30-40 kms) in Tamil Nadu, MM Hills to Mettur in Tamil Nadu Cauvery Wildlife Sanctuary and Cauvery Wildlife Sanctuary that connects Hogennakal Waterfalls near Kanakapura (20 kms). "The ban will be enforced from 9 pm to 6 am on the lines of night traffic bans at Bandipur and Nagarahole," the DCF said.

State Highway 38 connects Kollegal to Sathyamangala and it passes between BRT Tiger Reserve and M.M. Hills Wildlife Sanctuary. The other road passing through Cauvery Wildlife Sanctuary is used mainly by tourists and locals to reach Sangama and Mekedatu. The roads cutting through the forests are close to Edayarhalli-Doddasampige elephant corridor.

The night traffic ban will be relaxed during the Male Madeshwara Jaatre and on the occasions of special pujas at the temple where thousands of devotees throng the Hill temple, DCF Yedukondalu added.

On an average, over 50 buses from Karnataka, Kerala and Tamil Nadu travel on these roads every day apart from hundreds of vehicles. "Every night, a fixed number of vehicles including ambulances from both Karnataka and Tamil Nadu will be allowed to pass through the roads. We will follow the same model as Bandipur," he said.

Yedukondalu added that as there are many human settlements on the road that passes through the forests, passes will be issued to dwellers so that their vehicles can pass through the check posts.

Lok Sabha passes Bill awarding death penalty to child rapists

New Delhi, July 31 (UNI)- The Criminal Law Amendment Bill was passed in the Lok Sabha yesterday, clearing the way to award death penalty to convicts of child rapes in the country. "This Bill reflects the concern of the nation. It shows the determination of the government towards safety of women and the girl child. We want that the women in the country do not feel insecure," said Union Minister Kiren Rijiju after the bill sailed through Lok Sabha.

The Bill was initiated after outrage over the gruesome Kathua rape and murder case in which an eight-year-old nomadic girl was sedated and raped multiple times. The Bill seeks to replace the Criminal Law (Amendment) Ordinance promulgated on April 21. The bill received support from all the political parties unanimously, however, there were certain objections to the government taking the route of an ordinance for the same.

What is the Criminal Law (Amendment) Bill 2018?

The Bill stipulates harsh punishment for perpetrators of rape, particularly of girls below 12 years. The death sentence has been provided for rapists of girls less than 12 years and the minimum punishment in cases of rape of women has been increased from the rigorous imprisonment of seven years to 10 years, extendable to life imprisonment.

According to the Bill, in case of rape of a girl under 16 years, the minimum punishment has been increased from 1 to 20 years, extendable to imprisonment for rest of life which means jail term till the convict's "natural life." The punishment for gang rape of a girl below 16 years will invariably be imprisonment for the rest of life of the convict.

With the implementation of the bill, the deadline for the trial of rape cases will be two months. A six-month time limit for the disposal of appeals in rape cases has also been prescribed in the bill, adding that there will also be no provision for anticipatory bail for a person accused of rape or gang rape of a girl less than 16 years.

AIMIM's Asaduddin Owaisi opposed the Bill and said we need a deterrent law but this proposed legislation will put India in the same category as that of Saudi Arabia and Iran.

WORD OF THE DAY

Biblioklept

Pronunciation: bib-lee-uh-klept
Meaning: One who steals books.
Origin: Biblioklept is, in at least some sense of the word, fairly useless. It is two syllables longer than book thief. It is also unlikely to be understood by some portion of the people with whom you use it, and so cannot be said to aid in communication. Happily, we do not have a merit based vocabulary, and words that are useless have the same rights of inclusion as do those that are useful.
Example: Many eminent characters have been Biblioklepts.
—The Saturday Review (London, UK), 23 Oct. 1880

THE ODD WORD

Peregrinate

To travel or wander around from place to place.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

All things come to he who waits

Meaning: A literal meaning, advocating patience.
Origin: Used, but probably not originated, by Violet Fane (1843-1905) in her poem Tout vient ß qui sait attendre.

'Ah, all things come to those who wait,'
(I say these words to make me glad),
But something answers soft and sad,
'They come, but often come too late.'

QUOTE BOX

I would not put a thief in my mouth to steal my brains.

— William Shakespeare
